ABOUT ME

An enquiring mind, versatile and solutions-driven communicator with more than eight years leading the Network Operations team in ESPN. Not only in a dynamic, adaptive, and volatile environment where decision-making processes were key success factors but also with solid and robust experience managing high-performance teams ensuring operational excellence, and guaranteeing results as expected by the Company. Improved workflows among Argentina, USA & Mexico reducing duplicate efforts with an optimization above 40%.

Over the past 2 years, I have been focused on developing a digital transformation and digital mindset, adding another layer to my career working as a strategic advisor and web designer in LUKE. Today, I have fully transitioned into a Frontend Web Developer role while moving forward in the FullStack Web Development learning path in Platzi.
